CLUB KOKOMO ROADRUNNERS

The Roadrunner

Now What? What's Next Dan?

By Dan Lutes

I've been asked these questions a lot since finishing the 50 States Marathon Club goal last year. I originally gave some generic answers like "Rest!" or "Just go back and run the ones I want." But then I was approached on joining a new quest. The organizer of the 50 Sub 4 Marathon Club recruited me to join his newly formed club. He promised no dues and even gave me a free technical team shirt just for joining. The club's goal is to run a 26.2 mile marathon in all 50 States in under 4 hours. The motto is "Life is Short, Run Fast." The website (www.50sub4.com) organizes the participants into animal categories based on speed. I'm classified as a "Mustang," which is faster than a "Wolf," but not as fast as a "Cheetah" or "Gazelle." I'm currently ranked 14th on the website based on the speed of the "sub4" marathons completed so far.

With this new goal, I only need to repeat six of the 50 states, meaning only six states were slower than 4 hours the first time around. As it turns those states are all pretty good destination states, and aren't AK or HI, so that made the decision to do the new quest even easier. The repeats are VT, DE, FL, WY, CO & NM. Of course, my family is now already planning on a vacation in each spot, and they are actually disappointed that Hawaii doesn't need to be repeated.

With the new goal in mind, the family set off last month for the Vermont City Marathon in Burlington VT. We waited for the kids to get out of school the last day and hopped in the van for the 16+ hour drive. Linda and I traded off driving through the night, with one extended sleep stop, and made it early on Saturday afternoon. We went to the expo to pick up the packet and meet up with Uncle Earl (aka, Earl Strong). Yes, of course I couldn't pass up the opportunity to do one more marathon with Earl since he is now only two states away from his 50 States achievement. Earl and I have done 20 of my 50 states together, including my first (IL) at Chicago in 1993 (even though we didn't know each other at the time and still finished within a minute of each other!!) And now we've technically done 21 together, if you count Vermont. Earl has been a great travelling buddy over the years and my only regret is that he's not taking me along to Hawaii.

The course was beautiful and the marathon went well. I held a fairly consistent pace and finished in 3:38. This included a 2 minute port-o-let stop at a construction site around mile 14...note to self, don't carbo load on rich, creamy lobster mac-and-cheese the night before a marathon! The weather was overcast, which held the temps down. At this point, I'll save space for Earl to tell the rest of the story, but suffice it to say, a good time was had by all.

Okay, now 45 down, 5 to go... any upcoming club races in DE, FL, WY, CO or NM???

From the President

By Gina Sheets

Greetings Club Kokomo Roadrunners!

At last the weather is hot with unpredictable thunderstorms blowing in and then out again, sometimes dumping buckets of rain and sometimes leaving only sprinkles. For those of you that run out in the middle of nowhere please think about this on your next run – if threatening weather catches you out there what will you do? Lightening often is much closer than you think, never take chances and never think you can out run a storm. I know how many times we watch storms move one way and then turn back around. Always run with caution when bad weather is forecasted and always let someone know what route you are taking just in case you need a ride.

What a ride I have had these past 30 days. The picture used with this article was taken on the Great Wall in China. I traveled to China as a part of the Lt. Governor's Jobs, Investment and Agriculture Trade Mission the first part of June. There were 26 participants and it was one of the most successful business development trade missions on which I have been. The first few days we were working in Zhejiang, Indiana's sister state in China. Our hotel was located just off West Lake so I had the pleasure of getting in a 6 and once a 7 mile run around the lake every morning. When we arrived in Beijing the smog was so bad and so dense I never ran outside, it was the gym for me. I cannot imagine what it must have been like for those Olympic marathon runners or any outdoor athletes. We did see several venues that were used in the Olympics including the birds nest – interesting. I am very grateful for the work that I do that takes me to interesting places but nothing is better than my Indiana home.

We are half way into the year or half finished with the year, and it is time to make a call out for Club officers. The official voting will not take place for a few more months, but please, if you are interested in getting involved and serving the Club being an officer is a great way to learn more about what we do and why.

Last month I listed out all the award recipients whose award I am still toting around. It is absolutely amazing to me that none of those folks listed contacted me to get their award. Do I have your award and would you like to have it? Take a look at the last newsletter to see if you are missing what you don't know you have.

As always I leave you with the plea to get involved this is your Club and we are here to serve you, contact me via phone or email if you have any suggestions.

Be careful out there –

Gina

May Marathons

By Earl Strong

It's May and anything can happen weather wise during the month so one never quite knows what to expect. Often what seems like a good idea could turn out altogether different. These marathons have their start late last year.

First up was the Flying Pig in Cincinnati, Ohio because one of my running partners was looking to get back in shape after her second child and it was close by. I already had ran a marathon in Ohio, but had enjoyed running the Flying Pig last year and thought it would be a great time to run with an old friend again.

The forecast was 90% chance of rain on race day. After the Rhode Island marathon I had vowed I would never run a marathon in the rain again if I did not have to. Well, I did not need the marathon for the state, but I had to run because I call myself a gentleman. I could not bear the thought of Kelly running without moral support from me. We both had our families there and mine slept in while Kelly's girl got up to cheer her on as she headed out for the start.

We had a bit of a drive to get to the start line an oversight that I won't let happen again (I hope.) It's early and still dark but there's a flash of light and Kelly asks did we drive under a light pole. No, Kelly that was lightening! So that's how the day started. We managed to get parked and to the start line but without the pre-race rites of the potty break.

We're off and I am with Kelly through mile one. That's when the wardrobe malfunction occurred. One of my shoes had become untied and after I corrected it I lost sight of Kelly. The goal of this marathon quickly became to finish in time to check out before we are charged more money. That proved to be quite a challenge as I had to battle dishpan hands and water logged size 14's. I looked back often for the pickup vehicle.

As my time started to approach 5 hours I was just hoping that Kelly found the car and was okay inside out of the rain. I was surprised when I got to the car not to find her there. My fears were calmed shortly as I looked for the parking deck to see her making her way there. We got back to our families who were totally rested, as rain makes for good sleeping!

Results: Brian List 2:31:55 – Cynthia Arnold 2:55:00 – Kelly Wright 4:54:53 – Earl Strong 4:56:29 (May 2nd)

The next marathon was in Vermont on May 30th. This was a result of me learning not to run marathons on consecutive days (never again.) This time I got to meet up with Dan and his family, all the makings of a great time. Perhaps one of the best things about travelling with Dan is that he plans very well. Since I did not travel with Dan I was left to my own devices.

I thought the hotel where he was staying cost too much so while searching for a different one I thought I found a deal. But upon further review and too late to change things I ended up in New York. Making matters even more fun was the fact that I would have to take a ferry to get there at a cost of $18 roundtrip. I could have stayed at the Ho-Hum hotel just a few blocks away from Dan saving time and money.

The weather was good, great compared to the downpour in Ohio! I kept telling, myself I needed to walk but I felt fine until the last hill at about mile 17. The course was nice and one that I would do again. Dan and the family were at the finish line capping another marathon. After we got cleaned up we went out for sushi and of course Ben & Jerry ice cream.

Results: John Crews 2:17:51 – Heidi Westover 2:40:04 – Dan Lutes 3:38:28 – Earl Strong 4:27:59

Kokomo Triathlon

By Ron Moore

The third Kokomo Triathlon was held at Oakbrook Church on June 5th this year instead of late July as in previous year. This did not effect the turnout as 139 finished the race including six teams that represented 5 states.

The race consist of a 500 yard swim, 10.5 mile bike, and a 5k run. There were several members from Club Kokomo that participated in the Kokomo Sprint Triathlon this year. Top local and club athlete was Matt York finishing 6th overall. Heather Weber was the top local woman finishing 2nd in the women's field in her first triathlon.

Greentown 5

By Scott Riggle

This was only the second Greentown 5 mile race that I have been able to attend. I'm told it is always either really hot or it is raining for this run.

This year did nothing to change that thought as the race started in a complete down pour. Luckily it was also warm enough that we were not all freezing too. I have heard Ray Tetrault say several times that he hates running in soggy shoes. I have to agree as on miles 4 and 5 all I could hear was my soaked feet sloshing in my shoes even though it had stopped raining early on.

Congratulations to Chris James as he picked up his first over all win.
