Missing Jerry By Charlie Skoog

Club Kokomo recently lost a dear friend as Jerry Leach, husband of Kathy, was unexpectedly called home at 12:05 a.m. Wednesday, March 25. It was a shock to all of us who knew and loved him. Jerry was 74 years young at his passing, 10 years older than me, but I always considered him a contemporary. Jerry was young at heart, always smiling, never critical, always encouraging. Jerry was a regular on Wednesday nights at the Miracle Mile. He was also a regular at the Sportscenter and over the years invited many to join his Club Kokomo friends. Several years ago, perhaps at age 70, Jerry decided to run his first marathon and he did, on 26 consecutive Wednesday nights, running a little extra on week 26 so he could proudly display the 26.2 sticker on his vehicle! That sticker gave Jerry a cool way to invite an unsuspecting runner or walker to join us at Highland Park. Jerry also had a servant's heart volunteering at countless Club events, usually working the finish line. Jerry's service, mentoring and friendship to others went far beyond that. Jerry's last Miracle Mile was October 22 of last year. He would usually take the cold months off and then start back up in March but this year God had a different plan. As I type this report, its Good Friday and the best news, which we celebrate on Easter Sunday is we can see Jerry again and that's a finish we should all look forward to!

The Savage Scroll

by Carol Savage

Sadly we lost a club member this week, Jerry Leach. I have to admit that I did not know Jerry well at all, I did talk to him occasionally at races or at the Jackie Sanders Miracle Mile where it always seemed I was chasing him down each week. He was always friendly and had a smile on his face. His friends and family are in my prayers.

One memory I do have of Jerry is when walking the Cole Porter 5k a few years ago, he was behind me talking to a friend for most of the race, when we got close to the finish they kicked it up and passed me. He was definitely a competitor!

Therefore, since we are surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses, let us throw off everything that hinders and the sin that so easily entangles. And let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us. Hebrews 12:1

For those of you that know me, you know that I am not highly competitive; I just wasn't born with that gene. I am not athletic at all and I never participated in organized sports when growing up. I do enjoy most sports; I've been a Pacers fan for most of my life (we were born in the same year).

I try to stay active though to stay healthy. My mother had many health problems so I am hoping if I can stay active and try to get my weight under control I can avoid having those same health conditions affect my quality of life as it did hers.

I love Club Kokomo RoadRunners because while we have many competitors that are always striving to win or beat their personal best we also have many that are just trying to be active and do what they can and enjoy the fellowship we share. My prayer always is that we encourage one another and help others find a more active lifestyle by either running or walking.

Happy Spring and I wish each of you a Blessed Easter!

CMIS and Bridges Outreach of Kokomo are sponsoring our 3rd annual 5K to benefit Hoosier veterans. It is open for all students in KCS, as well as the Kokomo community.

- The registration flyer is attached
- The 5K is April 30, 2015 at Foster Park at 5:00

I am asking early, that if there is not a meet that night, that you would please allow your students on the track team to participate if they are interested. As a coach and parent, I know practice is important. I would ask that you consider them to miss or have a shortened practice and come and run in this event.

Thank you for your support
John Hubbert

Optimal Nutrition Jana Skoog, MS, RD, LD

In the past, many athletes followed low-fat diets, believing it would help them lose body fat. However, this can actually impair athletic performance, as well as weaken the immune system. Fats do many important things, including aiding in the digestion, absorption, and transport of the fat-soluble vitamins E, A, K, and D. Fats are a component of our cell membranes. The essential fatty acids -- Omega 3 and Omega 6 -- are the precursors for many regulatory compounds within the body, including the inflammatory process. Fat helps maintain intramuscular triglyceride stores which serve as a fuel source during prolonged exercise. Fats also add flavor and enjoyment to our diet. Some fats are heart-healthy (mono- and polyunsaturated), while other fats increase the risk of heart disease, heart attack, and stroke among other things (saturated and trans fats). The fats to choose first are the monounsaturated and Omega-3 fatty acids, then other polyunsaturated fats; these are health-promoting. This should be followed by a very limited intake of saturated fats due to their ability to raise LDL cholesterol with increased risk of heart disease; finally, trans fats should be avoided altogether as they increase LDL while lowering HDL cholesterol. (Trans fats are mainly engineered by our food industry, isn't that lovely).

Top choices for fats: olive oil is a great monounsaturated fat, and can be used for stir-frying and vinaigrettes; look for the extra-virgin first-cold-pressed for the most antioxidants. Avocado is awesome on a sandwich as a spread, or in salad. Peanut butter offers predominately health-protective fat, look for a natural brand without added "junk" i.e. salt, sugar, partially hydrogenated oils (trans fats); stick to 2 T. Walnuts, almonds, filberts, pistachios, cashews and other nuts are a great addition to salads, cooked vegetables, or as snacks; a small handful is a serving size. Ground flaxseed and chia seed both contain Omega-3 FA and can be used to top oatmeal or yogurt, or blended in smoothies. Other seeds to consider are pumpkin seeds, sunflower seeds, and sesame seeds. Fatty fish such as salmon and sardines twice a week provide adequate Omega 3s. Now for the bad guys. Saturated fats are the solid fats found mainly in animal products, so keep your intake low by choosing more fish, chicken, and lean cuts of meat; you can also consider plant protein which doesn't contain much saturated fats. Also, consume low-fat (1%) or fat-free dairy products if you choose to do dairy. There are plenty of dairy alternatives such as soy milk or almond milk that are excellent options. Read the ingredients list of food labels to see if there are any partially hydrogenated oils in your packaged foods such as chips, popcorn, crackers, cookies, frozen meals, etc. and find another alternative if so. Fast food and restaurant foods often contain trans fats, unfortunately.

A good goal is to aim for about 20-35% of the calories in your diet coming from fat, and with only 7% or less coming from saturated fat, and less than 1% trans fat (try for 0). Remember all fats contain 9 calories per gram, so don't go overboard! Have a great month and enjoy Spring! Next up: Protein.

Mustard Dill Salmon

1 lb. fresh salmon fillets
1/4 cup your favorite mustard
2 T. lemon juice or juice from 1/2 lemon
Dill, preferable fresh
Optional: Slivered almonds

1. Cut the salmon into three serving pieces. Place the salmon in a baking dish. Spread each piece with mustard.
2. Squeeze lemon juice over the salmon, and top with fresh dill.
3. Bake at 325F for 20-25 minutes or grill for 3-7 minutes on each side, depending on thickness. Top with slivered almonds if desired. Yield: 3 servings. Taken from Nancy Clark's Sports Nutrition Guidebook
